Cellular tower plan on hold for now

While developer seeks FAA approval and explores other sites

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

The communication tower proposed for the Blake property off the Bailey Road would require a light, if it can be built at all. Bill Fricke, representative of Spectrum Towers, told the Planning Board last Wednesday that the company needs a ruling from the FAA to determine if the structures would encroach on the protected cone of airspace for the airport.

The Planning Board met last week with a full house, and full agenda. Other items included the low-income apartments Community Concepts has proposed for Bethel Station, the town's swimming pond, and the airport expansion.

Bailey Road residents again turned out in force to express their concerns about the communication tower proposed for land owned by Bob and Cindy Blake.

According to Fricke, the proposed sites will be submitted to the FAA for an extended study. He told the Planning Board that the FAA would either say no, or say yes with conditions.

Fricke reaffirmed Spectrum Tower's commitment the Blakes. "We have a good faith obligation to

New debt deadline next week for ASC

ASSOCIATED PRESS

American Skiing Company's stock dropped to an all-time low Friday after the company delayed an announcement about whether it could settle its debts with creditors.

A deadline came and went Thursday with no word from the ski resort operator, which was expected to report whether it could work out a settlement with its lenders on its technical default of $85 million.

On Friday, ASC announced it had reached an agreement with Fleet National Bank. But the company was granted a delay until July 9 as it continues to negotiate with other banks.

Failure to work out a settlement could lead to an avalanche of financial problems for the company. ASC has amassed $400 million in debt, and has yet to earn an annual profit since going public in late 1997.

The company revealed earlier this month that it was in default on the debt because it had failed to meet earnings requirements in the terms of the loan.

The lenders granted a one-month extension on May 15 and a two-week extension on June 14, according to company filings with the Securities and Exchange Commis-

Bethel Police expect to charge two Rumford men in burglaries here

By ALISON ALOISIO

Two young men from Rumford will be charged, pending indictment, in connection with two Bethel burglaries that took place in May.

Richard B. Stickney III and Anthony Scott, both 18, will be charged with two counts each of burglary, theft and criminal mischief, according to Darren Tripp, Bethel police chief.

On May 12, someone forced entry through a rear door at Bethel Auto Sales, causing $353 in damages and taking about $10 in change, Tripp said.

On May 18, forced entry was also made, this time through a window, at the West Bethel Children's Center, causing about $200 in damage.

About $150 in petty cash was taken, said Tripp.

On June 2, the Gorham, N.H. Police Department notified Tripp that Stickney and Scott had been arrested in connection with burglaries at the Royal Inn and a Shelburne campground. During an interview, the two made statements indicating they were involved in the Bethel burglaries, Tripp said.

At that point, said Tripp, Bethel officer Henry Grenier, who was conducting the Bethel investigation, went to the Coos County Jail to interview the men. "During two interviews, they confessed," said Tripp. They also identified a female juvenile from Rumford as an access-

For some, recycling has become second nature

By ALISON ALOISIO

Mandatory recycling? Pay per bag? More education?

Municipalities such as Bethel and Bridgton are wrestling with how to get their citizens to recycle.

But for some area residents, recycling comes as second nature. And it's only part of a daily routine that emphasizes conservation.

For Amy and Tony Chapman of Bethel, it starts with conserving energy. They used to have a clothes dryer, said Amy, "but I hardly used it because I much prefer line-dried clothes in the spring, summer and fall. The woodstove we heat our house with in the winter is in the basement, so it was a simple matter to string up some lines down there to dry the clothes in the winter. I stopped using the dryer altogether and eventually gave it away. I don't have a dishwasher, either, and I don't want one." Energy conservation is also the rule in the Cressys household, where Al and Jackie Cressy follow what Al terms "bite-sized initiatives."

They work on forming small habits to conserve. "When that one little step is well-incorporated," said Jackie, "we move on to the next one. It doesn't take a lot to change a pattern."

For example, the Cressys use compact fluorescent light bulbs in many of their lamps. The bulbs use significantly less electricity than the traditional incandescent ones. "We could see the drop in the electric bill," Jackie said.

But, she said, they're not for every place that needs light. "You have to choose carefully," she said. "It's good to try them in places you

By ALISON ALOISIO

Some of the Sunday River Valley's finest homes will be on display July 14 as part of a house tour sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society.

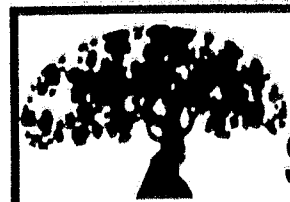

The tour day will build on the success of tours offered in Bethel homes in 1996 as part of that town's bicentennial celebration, according to Susan Herlihy, who is helping to coordinate the Newry tours.

Like the Bethel event, proceeds from Saturday's tours will benefit

ANDOVER OLDE HOME DAYS

To the Editor:

Andover, Maine, the little town with the big celebration. The 22nd annual Olde Home Days festivities will take place on Aug. 3, 4 and 5.

Our theme this year is: "Gateway to the Lakes and Mountains."

Plans are well underway, so expect a great time for one and all. T-shirts and buttons are in and on sale at local businesses and the town office. Be sure to get yours early while supplies and selections last. These are very popular and sell out fast. Along with the usual entertainment on the common Friday evening, the Ellis River Riders will host a show at the Town Hall. Plans are not finalized yet, but be sure it will be worth the wait. Saturday starts the day with a parade at 10 a.m. There's lots of time to build a float. The bicycle and doll carriage parade starts at 9:30 a.m. From there, everything bursts into a huge day of fun and excitement. The Western Maine Street Rodders will hold their ever-popular classic and antique car show at Akers' field.

The common will be jumping with lots of games, food, crafts, raffles and fun. T-shirts and buttons will be on sale and drawing of the button prizes will be held throughout the day. The Ancient Ones will be back by popular demand, demonstrating life as it was in the early 1700s and 1800s.

The fire muster, chicken barbecue and dance sponsored by the Fire Department are always fun. Closest to the pin (golf) and cow chip flip, fly casting and arm wrestling are the games of skill. Children's games and fly tying can be watched on Morse's lawn. Coffee and donuts, cookie walk, luncheon, bargain basement sale and silent auction can be found at the church, CEB.

A folk art demonstration will be held in the downstairs of the town hall. Anyone wishing to participate in weaving, basketry, soap making, chair caning, carving, etc., should call Dinah Cutting at 392-4491. The ever popular flower show is at the historical society building and a must to see every year. The garden contest will be judged on Aug. 2 starting around 10 a.m. The categories are flower, vegetable, mixed and three years or younger.

For information on spaces at the common, call Judy Michaud at 392-1221. For more information in general, call Nancy Wardwell at 392-2131 or Vicky Meisner at 392-4311.

Henry Hutchinson will be giving free horse-drawn wagon rides around the square. A van, courtesy of Mead Paper, will transport people to and from the lower Rec. field and the church parking lot. There will be no parking around the common, so please make use of the van.

The Ellis River Riders will once again host an open, all-day horse show on Sunday, Aug. 5. This event is free to spectators and lots of good food can be purchased at the "Feed Bag."

There's lots more stuff in the plans, so be sure to stay tuned for more information.

MILL CITY TEAM UPDATE

To the Editor:

The Mill City All Americans baseball team currently stands at nine wins and seven losses for second place in their division.

Baseball is a game of statistics. Listen to this — after 10 games we had only given up nine runs total. One would naturally think we'd have a 9-1 or 8-2 record, etc. Wrong. We had only six wins and four losses. In the four losses, Mill City only scored one run, losing 1-0, 2-0, 3-0 and 3-1.

Two of our former players on last year's team were instrumental in three of our losses. Matt Tupman, catcher for the Quarry Dogs, threw out seven of seven would-be base stealers, and Dan Calihan, Eastern Tides outfielder, got the winning hit in the other game.

There is a tremendous amount of mixed emotions when we face kids who played for us that we absolutely respect and admire.

Tickets for the July 17th game against Team U.S.A. (Olympic team) go on sale this week.

Those to whom I've promised tickets will get them. If anyone else from Bethel wants to go, let me know and I'll see that people who want them get them, free. It's a 7 p.m. game. I have accepted an associate job and have recommended two players so far, one from Maine.

Augusta Roll Call Report

By STEVEN STYCOS

Lobbyists were probably paid at least $4 million to influence state legislators during the recently completed six-month legislative session. The actual statistics will not be available until next year, but in both 1997 and 1999, according to reports compiled from lobbyist disclosure forms by Maine's Commission on Governmental Ethics.

Lobbying costs during the shorter four-month sessions held in even years have risen by more than 50 percent since 1996, according to commission reports. Last year $3.5 million was spent, while in 1996 $2.3 million was paid out. Business interests dominate the 2000 lobbyist list, from R.J. Reynold Tobacco Company ($31,625) to State Farm Insurance Companies ($45,000) to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maine ($48,999). Utilities are always big spenders. In 2000, Maine Yankee paid five lobbyists a total of $69,200, while CMP Group, Inc. paid three lobbyists $93,464.

Another big spender last year was the Maine Pulp and Paper Association ($43,571). In addition to the association staff, most paper companies also hire their own lobbyists. International Paper, for example, paid its lobbyist $10,395 in 2000, while Mead Corporation paid $17,200 to its lobbyist.

Some of the active non-profit groups with lobbyists include the Maine AFL-CIO ($26,400), the Natural Resources Council of Maine ($20,044), the Christian Civic League ($2,235) and the Sportsman's Alliance of Maine ($5,400).

A former Oxford County state senator, Severin Beliveau, continues to rank among the Statehouse's most highly paid lobbyists, receiving $128,829 to lobby for fifteen clients in 2000. A long-time lobbyist for the alcohol and tobacco industries, Beliveau also received $1,016 to promote the positions of the Ski Maine Association.

Below is a summary of some important roll call votes taken at the end of this year's legislative session.

SENATE

1. UNEMPLOYMENT FOR PART-TIMERS: 6/5/01 vote on LD 1258, sponsored by state Rep. Zachary Mathews (D-Winslow), to allow those who are able to work part time, but not full time, to collect pro-rated unemployment benefits. Only those unable to work full time because of illness or disability or need to care for a family member would be eligible. The bill would raise business unemployment insurance costs about 4.5 percent to pay an estimated $4 to $10 million a year in benefits. Supporters say part-time workers also need help when they lose their jobs, but supporters say business should not have to pay the extra costs. The bill was defeated 13-21. State Sen.s Richard Bennett (R-Oxford) and Norman Ferguson (R-Oxford) voted no.

2. NO STATE FUNDS FOR UNION BUSTING: 6/4/01 vote on LD 1394, sponsored by state Rep. Zachary Mathews (D-Winslow), to prohibit hospitals and other health care facilities from using state funds or state administered funds to influence unionization drives by its employees. Supporters say government money should not be used to fight unions, but opponents say the state should not interfere in hospital operations. The bill passed 18-16. Bennett and Ferguson voted no.

3. REPEAL FINGERPRINTING OF SCHOOL EMPLOYEES: 6/21/01 vote on LD 1090, sponsored by state Sen. Paul Davis (R-Piscataquis), to repeal the state law that requires background checks and fingerprinting of all school employees. Supporters of repeal say fingerprinting is an invasion of privacy for innocent people, but opponents say the law protects children from criminals working in schools. The repeal bill passed the Legislature and was vetoed by Governor Angus King. The Senate failed to override the veto 16-17. A "yes" vote is a vote for repeal. Bennett voted yes. Ferguson voted no.

4. LONGER TERM LIMITS: 6/11/01 vote on LD 901, sponsored by state Rep. John Tuttle (D-Sanford), to have a statewide referendum on increasing the number of consecutive terms a legislator may serve from the current four (eight years) to six (twelve years). Supporters say voters should decide how long legislators serve, but opponents say term limits guarantee a citizen Legislature. The bill was defeated 13-22. Bennett and Ferguson voted no.

5. 2/3 VOTE FOR ALL STATE BONDS: 6/11/01 vote on LD 1767, sponsored by state Rep. Paul Waterhouse (R-Bridgton), proposing a constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of each house of the Legislature before the Maine Governmental Facilities Authority (MGFA) can issue bonds for construction of public buildings. The Maine Constitution requires a 2/3 vote for all other bonds, but the courts have allowed MGFA to issue bonds with only majority support in each House. Supporters say borrowing has become too easy using the MGFA loophole, but opponents say MGFA bonded buildings save the state money by making government operations more efficient. The bill passed 19-15. Bennett and Ferguson voted yes.

6. $33 MILLION FOR HEALTH CARE: 6/21/01 vote on LD 1303, sponsored by House Speaker Michael Saxl (D-Portland), to increase the cigarette tax 6 cents and eliminate a corporate income tax loophole to pay for health care for 3,400 low-income children and 18,000 low-income childless adults, allow self-employed people to buy Medicaid at cost and provide lower-cost cancer drugs to low-income elderly people. The program would have cost $33 million over the next two years. Supporters say by taking advantage of 50 percent federal matching funds, the bill provides health care to thousands of low-income Maine residents. Opponents, including Governor King, worry the program's costs will escalate in future years, forcing more tax increases or benefit cuts. The bill passed 20-13. Bennett and Ferguson voted no.

7. $13 MILLION FOR HEALTH CARE: 6/21/01 vote on a scaled-back version of LD 1303 (see description above) to increase the cigarette tax 6 cents to provide 18,000 low-income childless adults with health insurance. To avoid a King veto they did not have the support to override, the Legislature removed the provisions for children, the self-employed and the elderly and kept the corporate income tax loophole to cut the bill's cost by more than half. Supporters say the bill improves health care at a reasonable cost, but opponents object to the cigarette tax increase and an expanded state program. The bill passed 27-6. Ferguson voted yes. Bennett voted no.

8. DISCLOSE DRUG ADVERTISING COSTS: 6/11/01 vote on LD 1022, sponsored by state Rep. Thomas Kane (D-Saco), to require drug companies to reveal their Maine advertising costs. Kane says disclosure will show high drug costs are caused more by advertising than by research. Opponents counter the industry is being villanized and forced to reveal private business information. After first approving the legislation, the Senate reversed itself and defeated the bill 16-19. Bennett and Ferguson voted no.

HOUSE

1. UNEMPLOYMENT FOR PART-TIMERS: 6/4/01 vote on LD 1258 (see Senate vote 1). The bill passed 77-60. State Representative John Patrick (D-Rumford) voted yes. State Representatives Arlan Jodrey (R-Bethel) and Tom Winsor (R-Norway) voted no.

2. NO STATE FUNDS FOR UNION BUSTING: 6/18/01 vote to override Governor King's veto of LD 1175 (see Senate vote 2). Because 94 votes (a 2/3 majority) were needed to override, the bill was killed 78-62. Patrick voted yes. Jodrey and Winsor voted no.

3. REPEAL FINGERPRINTING FOR STATE EMPLOYEES: 6/13/01 vote on LD 1090 (see Senate vote 3). The bill passed 69-57. Patrick voted yes. Jodrey voted no. Winsor was absent.

4. LONGER TERM LIMITS: 6/5/01 vote on LD 901 (see Senate vote 4). The bill passed 97-45. Jodrey and Patrick voted yes. Winsor voted no.

5. 2/3 VOTE FOR ALL STATE BONDS: 6/8/01 vote on LD 1768 (see Senate vote 5). The bill was defeated 53-68. Jodrey and Winsor voted yes. Patrick voted no.

6. $33 MILLION FOR HEALTH CARE: 6/20/01 vote on the more expensive version of LD 1303 (see Senate vote 6). The bill passed 85-51. Patrick voted yes. Jodrey voted no. Winsor was absent.

7. $13 MILLION FOR HEALTH CARE: 6/21/01 vote on the reduced health care bill that was acceptable to Governor King (see Senate vote 7). The bill passed 80-34. Patrick voted yes. Jodrey voted no. Winsor was absent.

8. ALLOW GENETICALLY ENGINEERED FREE LABELING: 5/17/01 vote on LD 1733, sponsored by state Sen. Marge Kilikelly (D-Lincoln), to allow food labeling stating that products are free of genetically altered ingredients. Supporters say the bill will give consumers more information and help Maine products. Opponents say there is no proof genetically engineered food is harmful and labeling will unnecessarily scare consumers. The bill passed 94-39. Jodrey, Patrick and Winsor voted yes.

the Historical Society's Capital Campaign.

The homes included "are meant to reflect the diversity in the valley," Herlihy said. The variety will range from homes built in the mid-1800s to a large contemporary home that was just completed, she said.

Among the older homes are the current Black Bear Bed & Breakfast, built in 1830. "It has a lot of history as a farmhouse," said Herlihy.

Steve and Peggy Wight's Red House Farm will also be open for a tour. It was built in 1857. The Wight's Sunday River Inn will serve as the central point for the tours, which will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance (up through July 13) and $12 on the 14th. A luncheon will also be served, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., at the inn. The luncheon cost is separate.

A map of the valley will be provided, with locations marked. The houses are located roughly within a three-mile radius. Hostesses at each home will conduct the tour. There will be seven or eight venues, Herlihy said. Also included will be the Lower Sunday River School House and Artist's Bridge, the covered bridge over the Sunday River.

"We expect to see mostly adults," she said, and a combination of visitors to the Bethel area and local residents.

Several of the homes have attractive gardens, said Herlihy, although the gardens were not a factor in choosing the homes.

There will also be flower arrangements on display at the various sites. Many of them will be created Thursday evening, July 12, at a workshop offered by Janet Black of "Designs." The public is invited to participate. People may bring their own containers and flowers, or purchase some provided by Black. After the arrangements are created and displayed on the tour, said Black, they will be returned.

For more information on the tours, or to register for the floral workshop, call the Historical Society (824-2908) or check the Web site at www.bethelhistory@ctel.net.

Herlihy said the Historical Society will look to expand the tour idea in future years to other parts of the region, such as the Bear River area. The current tour, she said, is intended to focus in a specific area.

Green light for canoe ramp

BETHEL—The Bethel Board of Selectmen has given conditional approval for a plan to build a ramp for non-motorized boats on a small cove in the Androscoggin River adjacent to Davis Park. The ramp will be built with donated materials and volunteer labor, said Rocky Freda, of Sun Valley sports. The only financial obligation for the town would be occasional maintenance, he said. He said the ramp would be similar in design to the one at the Newt's Landing site in West Bethel, which has needed very little maintenance in the several years it has been in place. The selectmen approved the proposal, pending a review by the town manager and code enforcement officer of the parking situation at Davis Park. Proposals for a canoe launch at the site have been turned down at least twice in the past by earlier boards of selectmen — one concern being the possible danger to small children of cars with canoe trailers maneuvering to enter and leave the parking area.

Truck bypass opposed

RUMFORD—Mexico selectmen last week authorized Town Manager Joe Derouche to write a letter to MDOT opposing a truck bypass of the town's business section. The MDOT proposal calls for signs to encourage truck traffic to use Route 108 from Morse Bridge to the Veterans bridge. Both Rumford and Mexico opposed a similar plan in 1992. The issue was raised again in 2000 by a new traffic engineer. Rumford selectmen voted in favor of it, but said they wanted public input. Derouche said he conducted a survey of merchants in both towns and found 18 opposed and eight in favor. Many were concerned a bypass would hurt business, while some in favor said it would be a good idea for safety reasons.

Lead safety workshops offered

AUGUSTA—The Maine State Housing Authority will sponsor a series of workshops throughout Maine in August to increase the number of professionals qualified as Lead Smart Renovators and Lead Sampling Technicians. "This training is not about lead-safe abatement," said Michael Finnegan, MSHA director. "It is training to show renovation workers how to use safe work practices in dealing with lead paint." New Housing and Urban Development regulations require all renovation work on federally-assisted housing be done using lead-safe work practices. For more information call 624-5720 or e-mail rtfethen@mainehousing.org. Workshops will be offered in Auburn.

Get OK for aquatic herbicides

AUGUSTA—Some Mainers are going overboard in the war against lake-choking aquatic plants, state officials say. The Department of Environmental Protection said there's been at least one incident in which aquatic herbicides were dumped into a southern Maine lake. The department also cites cases in which plants are physically removed, which is also illegal without permission. While aquatic herbicides can be purchased in stores, through catalogs and over the Internet, they aren't as safe as some people think, DEP said. And most products don't include information showing it's illegal to use aquatic herbicides without state approval.

Woman buried in chips

NORRIDGEWOCK—One moment Lori Corson was pumping gas into her car. The next she was covered almost neck-deep in wood chips. Corson miraculously walked away with just some scrapes, bruises and frayed nerves after an out-of-control tractor-trailer crashed into some gasoline pumps, smashed Corson's car and nearly buried her in wood chips Friday. Corson, 40, said the crash happened just moments after she finished filling up her car. She was walking away from the pumps at a Cumberland Farms convenience store when the truck apparently rounded a corner too fast at the intersection of Routes 2 and 139 in downtown Norridgewock shortly before 6 a.m. The truck barreled into the parking lot, overturned and crashed into an island of gas pumps, squashing Corson's car along the way. The wood chips then cascaded over Corson, covering her almost to her chest. Passersby had to dig her out. Police said they might issue a summons to the truck's driver, Jimmy Gosselin of St. Cme, Quebec. He suffered cuts on his head, and his truck was heavily damaged.

She will share the history of the WMNF from the citizen action that led to its creation, through decades of multiple uses and restoration of ecosystems, to the public's continued involvement in shaping the future of the public lands.

Soccer day camp has space

BETHEL—The Bethel Soccer Day Camp is still accepting players for July 16 through 20. Boys and girls ages 6 to 9 will have camp from 9 a.m. to noon. Ages 10 to 12 will meet from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. The cost for the week is $65. Each camper will receive instruction, a shirt and a soccer ball. For more information or to register contact Brett Shifrin at 824-0688 or P.O. Box 1091, Bethel 04217.

WMU gets state funds

NORWAY—The Western Maine University and Technical College Center came closer to becoming a reality with the announcement the state Legislature approved $270,000 for the plan. The money would cover some of the center's fees. Voters will decide in November the fate of a $36.7 million higher-education bond package, including $1.8 million for the center's renovations. The facility would be located on Route 26 in Paris, at the former Oxford County Fair Exposition building. The center would be a partnership between the University of Maine System and the Maine Technical College system.

Five struck by lightning

YORK—Five people were hit by lightning at an animal park Sunday afternoon when fast-moving thunderstorms swept through Maine. The five were standing about 30 feet from a willow tree at the York Wild Animal Farm about 3:45 p.m. when lightning struck the tree, traveled along the ground and hit the group, said York Beach Fire Capt. Leo Flynn. "They were thrown 10 feet from where they were standing," he said. One person was unconscious for 15 seconds, but none of the injuries was life-threatening. All were employees of the animal farm. They were taken to York Hospital as a precautionary measure.

Legislature OKs tourism funding

AUGUSTA—The future of Maine's tourism industry received a major boost during the recent session of the 120th Legislature, as a bill establishing a dedicated marketing promotion fund was approved by the Legislature and subsequently signed into law by Gov. Angus King. Under the terms of the new legislation, the Office of Tourism's annual budget will be based on the equivalent of 5 percent of the state's lodging tax and meals tax. The first effective year of the promotion will be fiscal 2004. Ten percent of the total budget must be set aside for regional marketing promotions and regional special events promotions.

"The 4,000-Footers of the White Mountains," co-authored by New England hikers Steven D. Smith and Mike Dickerman, explores in depth the 48 New Hampshire peaks that exceed 4,000 feet in elevation.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Skulduggery on Paradise

At 12:10 p.m. on June 29 police received a report from a subject on Paradise Road that while she was digging in her garden she discovered a human skull. Investigation revealed the skull was a very realistic plastic model.

Thursday, June 28

At 12:26 a.m. police responded to the Intervale Road for a report of a bear attempting to gain entry into a house. The animal was near the rear shed, and fled into the woods as two officers approached. They drove the bear several hundred yards into the woods, and notified dispatch. The Warden Service was expected to be in the area to try and track the bear in an attempt to keep it away.

At 9:15 p.m. police responded to Sunset and Intervale roads for a complaint of a bear trying to get into two residences. The police chief and an officer chased the bear into the woods, then cleared without further incident.

Saturday, June 30

At 9:30 p.m. police summonsed Michael S. McKinney, 33, of Bethel for assault as a result of statements received from complainants.

Tuesday, July 3

At 4:35 a.m. police responded to the Bailey Road for a report of a bear climbing up a porch to a bird feeder. The bear fled the area just prior to the arrival of police. The Warden Service was to be notified.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

exhaust the Blakes' options," he said.

Should both of the Blake sites prove unacceptable to the FAA or should the FAA's conditions on the sites prove onerous to Spectrum Towers, Fricke said that there may be an alternative site somewhere behind Telstar High School.

This site doesn't have good coverage of the Route 2 corridor, but coverage for that area will soon be provided by another tower currently being built on Barker Mountain in Newry. Fricke also said he hasn't identified the landowner of the site behind Telstar.

Fricke told the Planning Board that Spectrum Towers remains committed to building one large tower, if an acceptable site can be identified. The alternative is a plethora of smaller towers, which would be cost-prohibitive.

The Planning Board advised

Fricke that they are unable to consider the application until a single site is selected.

Other matters

Community Concepts presented an application for building 12 units of low-income rental housing in Bethel Station, but the Planning Board delayed making a decision on the application.

The permits for Bethel Station expired a year and a half ago, when the developer failed to come forward and renew them. The Planning Board decided they need legal counsel on the matter before proceeding. Planning Board members said they plan to hold a public hearing on the proposal, as well.

The Bethel Beach Committee presented a preliminary plan for Angeline Park, the proposed swimming hole to be built on the North Road.

According to Don Bennett, chairman of the Beach Committee, the proposal is currently being sent to DEP for approval. He said the pond will have to go through a full review under the Natural Resources Protection Act, because there are wetlands in the hayfield where the pond would be dug.

Bennett said the DEP application was 99 percent complete, and the Beach Committee would come back to the Planning Board after they received a permit from DEP.

Bennett also asked the Planning Board to hold a public hearing on the pond, to allow for community input and opportunity for abutters to express their concerns.

In a final matter, the Planning Board gave its stamp of approval to plans for expanding the runway at the Bethel Regional Airport. Construction is expected to begin later this month (see sidebar).

Reducing

don't need a lot of light," such as hallways. They are not as good for reading lamps, she said.

The CFL bulbs are more expensive, but last a lot longer than the incandescents. And like regular fluorescent bulbs, they're more efficient in areas where the light will be left on for a while, rather than constantly switched on and off. The quality of the light cast has also improved since CFLs were first introduced. They more closely mimic incandescent light. (The lights are available at Walmart and Home Depot.)

Buying used is recycling

Back at the Chapman household, conservation also means keeping a tight rein on what comes into their house in the first place. Nothing escapes scrutiny.

"We seldom buy anything new, and almost never until after we've exhausted the possibilities for finding a similar item in good used condition at a reasonable price," said Amy.

They track down items at yard sales, flea markets, Uncle Henry's, from friends and online through eBay, for instance.

"I started buying secondhand as a matter of frugality, but now I think more and more about the outrageous glut of material goods in this country, and it just feels better to find an item we need that someone else isn't using," said Amy.

Among their second hand acquisitions: bikes, kitchen cupboards and counters, a computer, jewelry, a tent and suitcases.

"I realize not everyone wants to buy everything used, but I get a real kick out of the challenge of finding exactly what we need second-hand," she said. And in keeping with the Cressy's philosophy, Chapman advises, "If I could suggest one thing to make a big difference to the environment, it would be to encourage everyone to acquire one or two things a year, that they would ordinarily buy new, second hand."

Let the worms do it

At the other end of the waste stream are the more familiar recycling practices. The Chapmans compost food scraps and yard waste and use the compost on their garden.

Marie Bartlett, the educational director for Oxford County Solid Waste and Recycling, can often be seen behind her Greenwood house digging holes in the yard. What's she up to?

CHOW TIME—Jean Bass feeds her composting worms vegetable peels, eggshells, shredded paper and coffee grounds, among other delicacies. After the worms have processed the material, Bass takes it out and puts it on her garden. How does she get around the worms to remove it? She shines a light on one side of the container, driving the worms to the other side.

The easiest form of composting, she said, Bartlett saves her vegetable peels over the course of a few days, then simply digs a hole and buries them. They decompose quickly, she said, and her nearby flower beds love them. "It's like giving my flowers a vitamin pill," she said.

Jean Bass of Bethel has found an easy way to compost in her kitchen. She keeps a plastic container of worms under her kitchen table. She started composting with worms two years ago, after attending a workshop at Pooh Corner Farm.

"Caitlin (her daughter) went off to college, and I didn't have kids anymore, so I got worms," she said.

She's always had a regular compost pile outside next to her garden, but, she said, the worms are faster. And they are good, quiet guests in her home. "They never smell," she said.

But she's not above using the worms to startle people. Last Halloween, when trick-or-treaters appeared at her door, she offered them a bowl of worms. "They jumped back," she said, but one youngster did take her up on the offer.

In addition to composting, Bass takes other steps to conserve. She learned from Chapman to limit the use of her clothes dryer, and saw a 20 percent drop in her electric bill. She also uses a treadle sewing machine, and does much of her winter cooking on a woodstove.

She dries and reuses plastic bags, and takes a canvas bag to the grocery store instead of bringing home new ones each time. The Cressys also use their own bags for groceries.

All of the steps taken by the conservation-minded of this area may not make a huge dent in global warming. But, said Jackie Cressy, "At least I'm not making the world worse."

Airport work poised for takeoff

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Construction at the Bethel Airport is scheduled to begin later this month, as long as a few final details are ironed out.

According to Scott Cole, town manager, the town is on the verge of signing a contract for 1.657 million dollars with Alvin J. Coleman and Sons, of Conway, N.H., pending written grant assurance from the FAA, which the town has still not received.

Cole said that based on a discussion with the FAA and the engineers last week, there may be a shortfall in the funds necessary to complete the project as planned.

"They are scrambling to re-allocate the funds to cover the final cost," Cole said. "The costs for acquiring the aviation and right-of-way easements, and the associated engineering and legal costs were higher than projected. But the actual construction costs are lower than estimated, as well."

Cole blamed the higher costs on an existing right-of-way that crossed the protected area around the extended runway. The town first attempted to move the right-of-way to land owned by Richard Valentine, a move that ended in a failed eminent-domain vote.

The right-of-way will now be shifted to the East side of the runway, shortening the length of the runway from the proposed 4,000 feet to 3,818 feet.

The original proposal called for relocating the Harrington barn, which intruded into the protected airspace by 3.5 feet. Due to the shortened runway, however, the barn will no longer need to be moved.

"The barn just misses scraping the airspace by about six inches," Cole said.

If there is a funding shortfall, Cole said that first the water line and septic field, costing about $24,000, and then a new windsock, at $14,000, would be dropped from the project.

As a final cost-cutting measure, the perimeter fence, costing about $250,000, would be delayed, and become a priority project within the next three years.

Another unexpected easement is being negotiated with an abutting landowner. Inland Fisheries and Wildlife determined that there is a deer wintering yard on the airport property that must be compensated for. They have identified a preferred deer wintering yard on an adjacent property. Negotiations of a conservation easement protecting the preferred habitat are now underway.

The original proposal called for a conservation easement on land owned by Sunday River Ski Resort. IFW found this unacceptable, because the terrain was not flat, so another site had to be found.

The final hurdle to construction is the two aviation easements over land owned by Chadbourne Tree Farms. According to Cole, execution of these easements is pending.

Burglaries

sory in the crimes, he said.

"Officer Grenier did an outstanding job in the investigation," said Tripp. "It's difficult for a patrol officer to do an investigation. He had to take a day off (to do the interviews without interfering with his regular duties)."

The two men have since been identified as being involved in burglaries in Rumford, Jackman, and Gilead, according to Tripp.

Tripp said they are expected to be indicted for the Bethel burglaries in the next sitting of the Oxford County Grand Jury.

Rod Royer, manager of the Bethel Foodliner, had the opportunity recently to drive a 600-horsepower GrandAm race car at the New Hampshire International Speedway in Loudon. Royer was one of 32 retail grocery employees who took part in the Richard Petty Driving Experience. Each driver, following a brief training session, drove a GrandAm around the track for 10 laps, with lap times and speed recorded by computer. Royer's fastest average lap speed: 102.92 mph. "It was an exhilarating experience," said Royer, who said he has never been a serious racing fan. "After a couple of laps and you can get used to it, it's a real adrenalin rush."

Some say a lot of germs are on a dollar bill. It cannot be so, as nothing could live on a dollar.

I received a letter from Vada dated June 13. They left Montana for Yellowstone National Park that morning and it started snowing. Driving was so bad they only went 89 miles and they were in Livingston, Mont.

Thanks for the letter Stacie, I am not gaining. Wonder if I will ever get back to Bethel.

It is okay here if you have to be in a nursing home. But the food is awful. Some is okay, but some I just cannot eat.

Rhonda Buker was in on Wednesday.

Walker was in on Wednesday and he went to play pool with Walter Fox. Walter and I played two games of cribbage and won again. Pastor Rick was in on Thursday and we played two games of cribbage. He won both and is some ahead by quite a few games.

Drew Webster visited me on Thursday.

Thanks to all my friends at the Bethel Alliance Church for their prayers and also to the others that are praying for me.

Thanks for visits, phone calls and cards, as I sure will not be back for a while and I think maybe I will just stay here. I do not feel that I am able to come home yet.

I enjoyed the Gilead column very much.

Hello to all my friends at Bethel House.

I can hardly believe it's July already. Before we know it, summer will be over. Don't blink too hard. This past week, we have seen a wide gamut of weather. Right now it is cool and even though it just rained, it doesn't feel as damp as it did this afternoon. But today was a good day and the rain held off through most of the Bethel Art Fair. Toward the end the thunder began to mount and then the thunder began, sounding very much like the Fourth of July fireworks. I got home to one hyper puppy that practically demanded that we go inside, now.

Shortly after I returned home I had visitors. A friend from Lewiston and a friend of hers showed up. They had just missed me at the Art Fair. We got to catch up on each other's lives — elderly parents, siblings, jobs, etc. It was great to see her and say we'll get together again before summer is out and know we meant it. Even Tasha had a good time visiting.

Thursday, due to a mix-up we had the beginning of our poetry reading outside. I actually enjoyed it, but no one else did. While we were sitting there, a large black and white furry thing walked across the driveway. It was definitely a skunk, the largest I've ever seen. Its fur was mostly white with some black. The white had some black dots through it, but it did not look like any skunk I've ever seen. Fortunately, it didn't see us and just kept going.

Several hours after the poetry reading ended, about 10:30 at night, I finally got my voice back. It had been four long days with no voice. By Thursday I was getting frustrated. It felt like being trapped inside with no way out. At least I could write. It was fascinating to watch people's reaction to my not being able to speak. Some people paid attention and could lip read, some filled in the ends of my sentences, but others got annoyed at the situation and did not want to be helpful. This is not the first time I've observed this happening. I have been suffering laryngitis every year for the last ten or so, because of my asthma. Usually it happens in July, but this year it jumped the gun. Friday night after the Planning Board of Appeals hearing at Newry Town Office, I was speaking with friend and neighbor Barbara and realized that the laryngitis had probably been due to chemical poisoning from being exposed to the gas fumes at the UU church in Norway. I think a letter to them is in order. This is not a new problem; they are in denial about it and I've been told that gas leaks lead to explosions.

Summer is picking up for me. I have gone from having no job prospects to having two jobs. July 2 I begin several jobs. Summer school starts at Telstar and I will be teaching English, and I will also be working at Lake Umbagog State Park in Cambridge, N.H. In between, I will be working in the garden. I finally got most of it in the ground. I even have some plants coming out of the ground. That is such a great feeling it almost makes it worth all the effort. I may even have some tomatoes to give away before this season is out.

That is all for this week. I will let you know how the new jobs went. Hope you all had a great Fourth of July and are well into summer by now.

Last week was a busy and hot one for us. Got most of our hay done by Thursday afternoon and were preparing for a relaxing weekend. Then, about 9 p.m., we got a phone call that the Maine Wing Civil Air Patrol needed us to come to Greenville on Friday to help out on the "Eval" exercise there. We scurried around gathering uniforms and "stuff" to take to get us through the weekend. Mona packed our pop-up camper trailer Friday morning after I went to work, returning shortly after 8 a.m. After a few more last-minute projects, like giving the hens extra grain and picking all the potato beetles off the plants, we were off, shortly after 10 a.m.

We took Snuffy along for company and to keep him from being lonesome at home (one of the conditions I placed on going to Greenville).

After we got to the Telford Aviation hangar on the Greenville airport, we set up our camper on the mown grass behind the hangar. Then we found out we were responsible to make sure all the logistics (fuel, food, medicine, communications equipment, messing facilities and cots for the cadets) were coming along on schedule. After the usual stumbling around, we got into the swing of things, and the "Eval" went well.

Maine Wing received an "Outstanding" rating and were rated the "Best Eval this team had seen in the Northeast Region in the past two years!" Of course, everyone was pleased with this result, achieved despite the lack of experience of the logistics officer in this type of exercise.

During the course of the exercise, our air and ground teams located the "downed" pilot and his aircraft wreckage, took digital photos of a dam "damaged" during the course of a simulated severe storm, fired up an emergency generator to continue communications during a simulated power outage, successfully operated around a simulated bomb threat, sent a couple aircraft up Moosehead Lake to assist the search for a lost canoeist, and generally impressed the evaluators with our preparedness for almost any situation.

After our exercise terminated Saturday afternoon, we were treated to a dinner of barbecued chicken, corn on the cob, potato and macaroni salads put on by a pair of cooks provided by the Bangor Air National Guard 101st Air Refueling Wing.

Sunday, instead of coming directly home, we went to Wing HQ in Augusta to be "assisted" (Col Linker maintains it was, "harassed") by a higher HQ staff assistance visit. This visit was intended to help us identify any weaknesses in our operation, in order to correct them before another team comes. Again, our evaluators (assistants) gave us high marks for the professional way we manage our assets.

Our luck ran out when we got home about 5:45 p.m. Sunday. As we drove up the driveway, Mona exclaimed, "The damned deer have been in my flower gardens and have eaten my glads, foxgloves, (and a bunch of other stuff I can't remember)." When she got out of the truck behind the garage, she said, "It wasn't deer. It was a moose. Look at his tracks."

One look, and I grew suspicious. "That may be Jelly's (the steer) tracks. Let me see if I can find him." I looked in the pasture and found no evidence of Jelly there. After finding a rope halter and a dish of grain, we initiated a search. Fearing Jelly might be raiding brother Rupert's garden by now, Mona phoned to alert him. No answer. "If Jelly is in Rupert's garden, we'll be in deep trouble. Let's go." As we rounded the back corner of the barn, hot on the trail of steer tracks, there stood Jelly. He was calmly munching some of the freshly bailed hay.

The Howard Pond Campers Association will meet Saturday, July 7, at the Dragon Cottage at 449 Howard Pond Road.

The former residence of Carroll and Beatrice Bean, located on the Top Hat Road, was torn down June 23. A cellar is being dug and soon Rebecca Bean and her family will have a new home at that site.

Hanover selectmen met for their monthly meeting on Tuesday, June 26, at the Town House. There was a report that some work had started at the new Town Office and that bids for the handicap ramp would soon be available. The treasurer reported that tax payments were being received at a rapid pace as the end of the fiscal year (June 30) arrives. He also reported that five tax liens had been paid off, leaving only one lien on the books. The assessors looked into and resolved several tax problems. Bob Fortin reported on solid waste and recycle matters and said there may be some changes at the transfer station.

A citizen present at the meeting complained about the way that the roads are maintained and another citizen presented information related to a possible local dog ordinance in Hanover. One selectperson wished that the "Roosterville" sign were still in place so the selectmen could vote to remove it.

The next selectmen's meeting is scheduled for July 24 at 5:30 p.m., and the special town meeting for the school budget may also be that day, if the budget is ready by then.

State Senator Norm Ferguson reports that he has completed his work with the present session of the Legislature and he is at home now. He hopes to spend some time in Nova Scotia.

Workers are busy making plans for the July 12 dedication of the Ferry Boat Ramp. Canoes from the Androscoggin River Canoe Trek will arrive at the site between 1 and 2 p.m. from Bethel by way of the Androscoggin and from Andover via the Ellis River. A lunch will be served and local, state and industry dignitaries are expected to attend. The public is invited to join in the events of the day. Anyone wishing to help out that day are asked to contact Bruce Powell.

Andover

by Joan Stinson Carney

Marion Bodwell, former resident of Andover, now living at Ledgeview Nursing Home, will celebrate her 100th birthday on Sunday, July 8. You may call her at the nursing home in West Paris from 1 to 3 p.m. Or send a card.

Margaret Smith of East Andover will be 99 on July 12. A card would be nice.

Irving Smith is a patient at Maine Medical Center in Portland; again a card would be nice.

Barbara and Orville Meisner celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 23. A party was held in their honor at Worthly Pond. Matt and Nancy Brooks were hosts.

Violet and Robert Swain had a lot of company recently. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swain and daughter Lucie, Hannah and Nathan Noble and daughter Hope from Yucarpa, Calif., Rodney Swain and daughter Jennie were all guests.

Miranda Stinson and her friend Jay from Conyers, Ga., are visiting with family this week. Plans include a night at Bingo, dinner at the Mexico Chicken Coop, horseback riding, swimming at Flat Rocks, and taking Rocky for long, long walks. They have already been to L.L. Bean — talk about turning into a "Flatlander." I'm tired already and it's only Monday.

The Olde Home Days committee needs a volunteer to manage the arm wrestling event. Too bad we couldn't get the "Rock" to do it. If you are interested, please call Marshall or Vicky Meisner at 392-4311. For additional information, you can call Dinah Cutting at 392-4491. This was a great success last year, and should be so again this year. I have the schedule for the weekend's events and will print it later on this month. The days are Aug. 3, 4, and 5. So start planning now. The buttons are already on sale at various locations. I already have one of the lucky ones, but there are some really good prizes again this year, and I'm perfectly willing to share. Phyllis and Leon Simmons spent a lot of time putting the numbers on the buttons — thanks, guys.

Birthdays for the coming week include: Doris French, William H. MacDonald and John L. Merrill on the 6th; Richard Shuckhart on the 7th; Donna Stinson Gagne, Trianna Wells, Casey Sims, Jennifer McPherson, Carl Burns, Janet Field and Betsey White on the 8th; Kayla Sims, Marge Towne, Alexa Burns and Kristel Pelletier on the 9th; and Robyn Phillips on the 12th. Happy Birthday, everybody.

Once again I was reminded of how dependent I am on Thomas Edison's invention of the light bulb and everything that runs on electricity. We woke up this morning to a power outage. This meant no coffee, no running water, no coffee, not knowing the correct time, no coffee, and a few other things that I am beginning not to take for granted. Did I mention no coffee? CMP had better get its act together. I don't care how hard the wind blows, how many trees fall down, how much snow we have, or any other excuse they give for power outages, there is no reason for this to happen, and I for one am getting really sick of it. Wonder if they have ever heard of underground cables. Did I mention before that I didn't have any coffee this morning?

Just to warn everyone in the area, a huge black bear and her cub have been spotted wandering around town. I hope everybody knows enough to let her have whatever she wants, and to stay out of her way. I saw my first moose of the season the other afternoon; it was just a baby, thank heavens, and was more interested in eating than playing in traffic. I didn't even have to give it a nickel.

The word for the week is brochette. Handy this time of year.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published here by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

I know on a few occasions I have picked on the guys a little bit and on a few occasions they deserved it, but I'm here to tell you that there are some occasions where they get very high marks from me.

For example, guys can do things; fix-it type things I mean.

It's strange, but I think it's the same testosterone that makes guys so flaky that also state of panic figuring I would never be able to bring Henry home from the hospital because I wouldn't be able to get him into the house.

I called my son Doug and asked him about putting a sheet of plywood over the steps. Well, stupid me, what did I know about bending in the middle or how steep a slope that would create.

Fortunately Doug showed up with wood and tools and created a portable wheel-chair ramp. I'm didn't even complain that it weighed 3,000 pounds and takes three men and a boy to put it in place. The fact is, he knew how to make one and I didn't. Now I hope he is willing to do it again because it now needs replacing and I haven't learned any more about slope or grade, angles and strength.

If something goes wrong with a woman's car, she doesn't ask another woman what might be wrong with it; she asks a guy. And that guy will probably have a pretty good idea what the problem is. In fact, if she asks another guy and yet another guy, they will all have an idea too; only they won't necessarily be the same idea.

If these guys get together to help the lady out, they would all stand around the car looking under the hood and discussing each other's theories on what's wrong. They would then scratch various parts of their bodies and proceed to tinker until they fixed whatever was wrong. And that's the point; they would fix whatever was wrong.

That amazes me. Chances are no one taught them auto mechanics, they just seem to know. They even seem to enjoy it! How they can like getting covered with grease and oil and smashing up their knuckles is beyond me, but they do.

I sure wish I had some of that basic testosterone induced mechanical knowledge; then maybe I would be able to hang my new clock. Putting a clock up sounds like a pretty simple procedure, but I have been told, by guys, that because the clock is heavy, I can't just pound a nail into the wall and hang the darn thing. They say I have to know where the studs are so the clock will have some support. What studs? Where? How do I find them? They also said something about molly bolts or lolly-bolts or maybe it was anchor bolts. See what I mean? Guys just know that sort of thing.

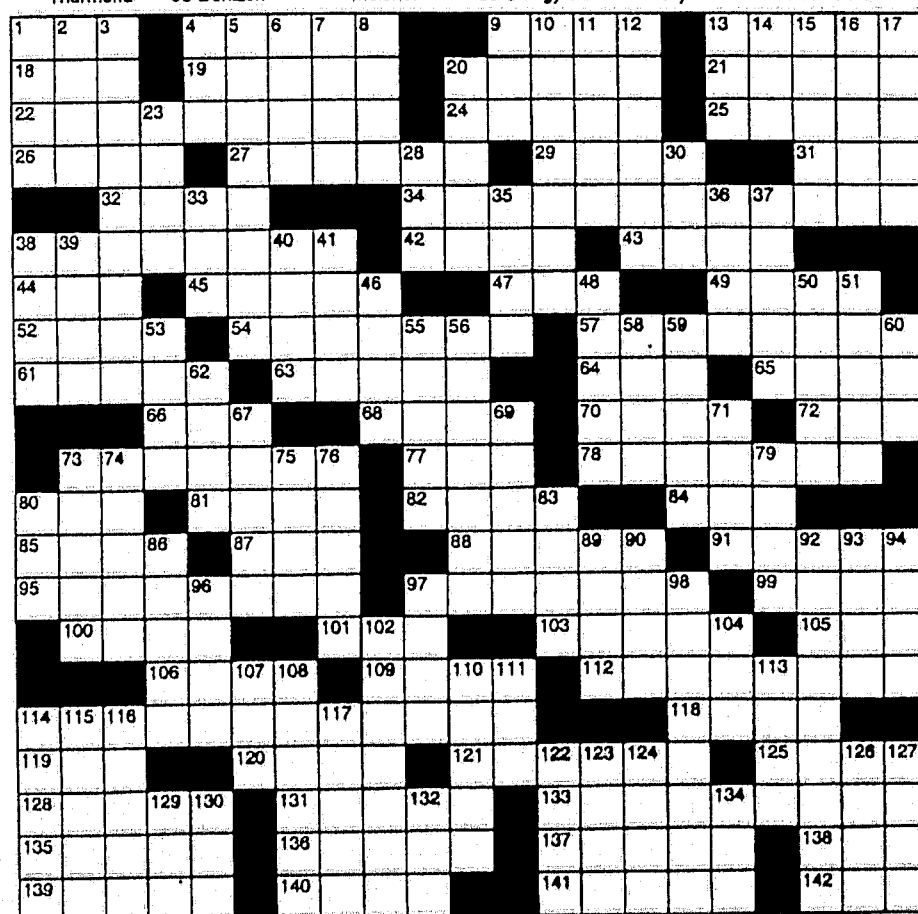

That's not to say that some women are not mechanically inclined. There are some women who actually have as good if not better aptitudes for fixing things than men. But let's face it ladies, those women are the exception. Most of us don't know a socket from a ratchet and have no desire to learn. After all, we do everything else, why should we be expected to be mechanics and carpenters too?

I think men's ability to fix things and build things is their little insurance policy that us women will always need them for something. And they're right, we do, or at least I do.

They way I see it, if any of you guys are feeling not needed or your masculinity is being threatened by independent women, come on over to my place. I have a clock to be hung, a faucet that drips, a door that sticks and a car that ticks and a wheelchair ramp that needs an upgrade. I can promise you that you will never feel as needed.

West Paris

by Bertha DeHaas
On Sunday afternoon, June 24, the home of William and Leanna (Brown) Wisnowski of West Paris was the setting of a most beautiful summer flower garden wedding of their daughter, Christina Lynn Bean to John E. Torres III.

Columbia, Md.

The bride gown was of white satin, sleeveless and trimmed with lace and baby seed pearls. Christina carried a bouquet of maroon calla lilies. The bridesmaids' gowns matched the bridal bouquet in color. The groomsmen wore light blue Spanish-style shirts and trousers.

The bridal couple was united in marriage by the Rev. Charlotte McClure, a friend of the family. Matron of honor was Robyn Hamilton, sister of the bride; maid of honor was Lindsay Johnson, the bride's best friend; bridesmaids were Janice Torres, sister of the groom; Danielle Wilson; Shellyanette Benson and Catherine Benson, all cousins of the bride. Best man was Roland Concepcion, cousin of the groom. The groomsmen were Chad Giles; Michael Coe; William Shalaby; Norwin Prasad and Kevin Walkowiak, all friends of the groom. Flower girl was Meagan Hodson; Bible boy was Franklin Hodson, both friends of the bride, and ring bearer was Justin Hamilton, nephew of the bride.

The prelude was done on the organ by William Navalon. Special music, "Panis Angelicus" was sung by Janice Torres, sister of the groom. Special music, "Ave Maria," was played on the violin by William Navalon.

Immediately following the ceremony, a garden reception was held under a tent, as a shower as brewing. Mother Nature held off until suppertime and the festivities were concluded. We all wish them blessings and many years of happiness.

Saturday night, following a most delicious supper at the West Paris Grange Hall, we were royally entertained by the Mahosuc Arts Council in a superb program featuring many stories told by famed storyteller, John McDonald; music of a real lively nature, Scottish, Irish and French-Canadian in origin, by the music group called "Music Box," at times accompanied by a very talented young miss from Farmington by the name of Hannah Stombarten, age 11. The program was also interspersed by poems by poet and entertainer, Wes McNair. Mrs. Roy clogged at one point and I think all of our toes were tapping right along with her. The program was concluded with Ken Morse's song, "Rolling Home." A wonderful time was had by all.

Monday night, Alice Hoyt received an achievement award certificate for a job well done as CWA chairman of Franklin Grange 124, Bryant Pond, during their annual CWA night program. Music was provided by Dot Canwell, Gerald Easter and Aubrey Farrington. A monologue was done by Russell Yates. The program was preceded by a most scrumptious supper at 6 p.m. It was a good evening of good food, good fun and good friendship. Why don't you come out and join us?

Tri-Town has been trying diligently to raise the necessary funds to purchase a new, or newer, updated ambulance.

I understand that recently Norman St. Pierre took his vehicle to Lee Auto Mall for service and while there told someone he really needed ideas to raise enough money for a new ambulance, and an employee of Lee's suggested that Norm fill out a request form for special funds from Lee's, and he did. The outcome of this was that Lee's Auto Mall donated a big $1,000 check to help Tri-Town Rescue in their endeavors toward a new ambulance. Lee Auto Mall of Norway has also bought air time on radio station WOXO for a month to solicit more donations for Tri-Town's ambulance project. At this point in time, Tri-Town needs to raise another $33,000 for the purchase of an ambulance.

To date, Tri-Town has a $20,500 grant from the USDA, a loan of $38,100 from USDA over a 15-year span of time at 4.5 percent interest, the $1,000 from Lee Auto Mall and another $5,000 from a variety of fundraisers.

Many thanks to Lee Auto Mall from all of us. Norm and Scott and the rest of the Tri-Town staff and auxiliary are diligently searching for other donations. Will you all help too? You never know when you might be the next one to need their efficient services — I know. Thanks also to Evelyn Bean of Bryant Pond, who has bought Tri-Town two frylators to help in raising funds. Thanks, also, to Woodstock Oil who donated all the propane for Tri-Town's French Fry booth at Old Home Days and is donating all the propane for Tri-

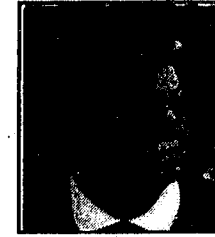

Town's French Fry booth at all the soap box derbies this summer.

Please take note of the following two items:

Tri-Town's annual yard and bake sale will be held Saturday, July 14 and Sunday, July 15 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church on the corner of Route 26 and Andrews Road in Woodstock. Donations are welcome. Call 674-2400 for drop off or pick up.

Tri-Town Rescue will be doing an instructional auto extrication exercise Sunday, July 15 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Summer Fire Station on Route 219 in Sumner.

with Walter, Kim, Walter Jr. Inman and Sandy, Vicky, Brant and Caroline Sanborn. Lobsters were the treat. It was a rainy day but we ate under a big tarp.

Vern received a nice Father's Day gift from Vance Bacon in the form of a puffball mushroom with a 36-inch circumference and weighing nearly five pounds. The shiny white gift gave us several wonderful meals of batter-fried and butter-sautéed mushrooms. Very good.

On Wednesday, the 20th, our grandson, Vernon G., arrived from Kosovo via Germany for a leave from combat engineers. The next day, being his birthday, we had a cookout and cake and ice cream at his Aunt Linda's camp on Twitchell Pond. Needless to say, we have been having a great time visiting. Saturday was the day to have lobsters at camp, which Vern was anxious to have. Those present were Ginny Aridas; Alan and Pam Waterhouse; Alan Jr. and friend Vicky; Amanda and Chris Waterhouse; Ruth and Arnold Moore; Mary and Tom Spear; Michele and Andy; Sandy, Vicky, Brant and Caroline Sanborn; Vernon's parents, Kim and Walter and Vern and I. And again, we had to eat under the tarp.

This past weekend Amber Lamb and friend from Santa Fe, N.M. visited her grandmother, Joyce Lamb. Amber was on her way to Traveler Mountain where she will be guiding Boy Scouts in canoeing, etc.

During that weekend, Joyce and Florence McLaughlin attended a baby shower for their granddaughter, Kyra Flaherty, in Waterboro.

Goodwill Fellowship met on Monday evening on Round Pond at Beryl Bonney's cottage for a picnic and meeting. They elected officers for the next year: president, Joyce Lamb; secretary, Marta Clements; treasurer, Peg Perham; sunshine secretary, Eleanor Inman; reporter to church board, Miriam Inman.

The Historical Society encourages you to study both history and genealogy, and they have materials to help you. Do you and your children watch informative educational programs on TV? The society urges you to do so. The society museum has fine exhibits, a good research library and a convenient little store. Visit any Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. Copies of Ruby Emery's brief history of Woodstock and the longer "Hamlin's Gore" are available. Society members give tours or help you with research. Also, come to the History Day on Aug. 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for all kinds of activities.

Mary Billings and Olive Risko watched the museum recently. Flowers from the garden decorated the building. Petunias have also blossomed nicely in the urn outside.

Curator Billings recently helped a man from New Jersey with research over the telephone. He recently called his friend, Don Cyr, who won an historic preservation award at the Blaine House a while ago.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

For the past two weeks the flowers in the window boxes at the Town Office have been in a state of disarray. At least once a day all the seedlings were found on the ground. Paranoia ran high. Several people have replanted them only to return and find the plants on the ground again. Last week, while attending the School Board meeting, Sue Nelson and I discovered the culprit. There was a big, black crow-like bird systematically removing each plant. Why he would do this dastardly deed I have no idea. (Quoth the Raven "Nevermore.")

Margaret Mitchell took a fall a few weeks ago receiving a hairline fracture. She is confined to quarters for bed and chair rest. We hope she will be up and running soon. She is a very busy lady with a lot of projects to complete.

Last week, Evelyn Kenney, Joy Yarnell, Ellie LeComte, Becky Kendall and Jane Vogt took a bus tour to the coast with a McLaughlin Garden group. They visited the Maine Maritime Museum, York's Rhododendron Garden and North Creek Farm. The gardens were great, but our all-time favorite was right in Bethel at Jane Vogt's.

There is a yearling bear roving around the Mill Road woods. He has wrought havoc at the Yarnell's, dumping six cubic feet of peat moss around the property. He also messed up the garden and bird feeders. Sue Nelson spotted him on the Burnham Road, and evidence of a visit to the Stanczyk bird feeder was quite obvious.

Gene Wixom spent some time in Upton last week. He is recovering from hip surgery and was able to enjoy a trip up the lake on the Nelson's Pontoon Boat.

There is a field of orange flowers on the corner of Bernier Lane and Back Street that really catches the eye. The wild flowers are at their peak everywhere.

Last week, the second page of my report was lost in the transmission to The Citizen. Being profoundly lazy I will just resubmit the information.

A great big thank you to Larry Davis for the great wood carvings and hand-painted wooden articles which he donated for the Aug. 18 Craft Fair. The fair will be held in the School House. We are changing our venue to accommodate the Hamel Family Memorial Service.

The birds are still in abundance, but Al Gagnon reports that for the first time the barn swallows did not return to his barn. He is quite disappointed, not just because he enjoys their presence but they are missing out on the best mosquito feed in years.

The gaggle of goslings is diminishing. Another baby goose has disappeared leaving a mess of down and feathers on Barb and C.J. Stratton's lawn. The culprit could be the mink, raccoon, or maybe that big, fat yellow feral cat. Who knows?

The Fourth of July weekend came early this year. Errol had a wonderful celebration on Saturday and Sunday. The fireworks were spectacular.

Congratulations to Dick and Jeanette Pinette on their 60th Wedding Anniversary. Dick is the author of "Errol Echoes" and wrote a well-followed column for the Bethel Reporter. He will be writing for the Northern New Hampshire Magazine in the future.

Following the oppressive "heat and bug" wave of last week, we are rewarded with cool, rainy weather. It's a blessing because the lawns and gardens were parched.

The "Bird of the Week" is the barn swallow. This brilliant flyer dressed in natty dark blue with his forked tail is a welcome visitor each year by farmers all over the country. They followed the pioneers across America. The wide-open barn doors were an invitation to "good living" for these feathered friends. Ever since man became a settled creature, swallows have made themselves at home, with their human providers. Homesick immigrants were delighted to find that these small birds were identical to the ones they left at home in their native lands. Since America began, barn swallows have nested in haylofts and the hefty timbers supporting the barns. The "outhouse" was no exception to the rule and being dive-bombed by these little fellows interrupted many a trip "outback". They make a mess and soil the farmer's hat, but they are very welcome after their long flight from South America. All farmers curse them but have a soft spot in their hearts for these birds. I hope Al Gagnon's barn swallows return next year and muddy up those new timbers in his barn.

After a heavy rainstorm, the songs of the birds seem most jubilant. I especially noticed it this morning as I sat outside.

Then I saw something moving and went to see what it was; a turtle; the first I had seen since last year. As I approached, he froze. I talked to him but I'm sure he was immobilized with terror. I kept talking to him saying things like "Don't be afraid. I won't hurt you." I eased away but I looked back and he was still in a frozen position. After going into the kitchen, I looked again and he was out of sight. I'm sure he was happy to be on his way.

Several relatives and friends visited me during the week. I liked that.

The graduation classes are over for another year and the youngest member of the Morgan-Holt family lies graduated.

Gilead

by Elise Caswell

Today I walked. The slower pace was kinder to me bringing me face to face with only life. I've learned over the past two weeks that my horror at the "cost of the living" price for speed is partially a newcomers' focus.

A long-term resident is savvy, I suppose, than to belabor road kill as a topic of conversation in a rural newspaper. Oh well...time is the great Educator and I am forever the student, and even sometimes, the fool. Still, I don't think I'll ever get used to it...especially those bigger mammals. I've been reminded several times this week of how new I am to this Gilead field.

My husband, Stephen was down in Massachusetts over the weekend for the sailboat races he loves and because he was traveling the distance, he had the dependable, economical Subaru and left me with his truck. Sunday I had to run a few errands with Will. After picking up the necessary food items, we stopped by The Philbrook Place to look for a pair of sandals and when we got through, I went to start up the truck and there was no sound. It was hot and I had milk and Will just kind of rolled his eyes and said now what? Lets bear with it Will. I was suddenly keenly aware of not having anyone to call on for help.

"I felt that panicky uprootedness of not having any contacts or friends or family members. I suddenly felt vulnerable. I thought of the interconnectedness I had with friends and family in Massachusetts. I became aware of just how much I took their friendship and nearness for granted. They were all those tiny webs of connection, like the farthest-reaching roots of a plant, that were severed when we transplanted ourselves to Maine.

Hot as it was, there was a cold little wrench in my heart. The kids at The Toy Shop were helpful letting me use their phone and all, but I must say, the young man who was working at True North really went out of his way to be kind. He set up some jumper cables from his small car and prayed to the Electricity God and after a few sparks and a pop quiz in trust, we got the truck to turn over only to find the alternator seized.

Thank goodness for AAA. As we waited for the tow truck, my neighbor, Diana Minot, pulled up with her visiting family and made sure to come over and ask if I had someone to call. See? I do have a neighbor. I just haven't grown those tiny little reaching roots yet.

Then Buster Gaudreau came along shortly and towed the truck to Mighty Good Wrench. He gave us a ride to the Bog Road, groceries and all. He said he was coming out my way anyway to stop in to his brothers for a quick visit with his Mom who was visiting. I guess it all worked out lucky for the both of us. The milk was fine and the kindness to a stranger was forthcoming. Thank you.

Monday, I popped into the bank to make a deposit for my husband, and the teller asked to see my identification. That was a daily occurrence in Massachusetts because I look like everyone's sister's best friend and it was certainly nothing to think twice about. I'd never before been asked at Northeast and I was surprised at the little jab of pain I felt when the teller didn't recognize my face. I am oversensitive by this huge change of life coinciding with my little personal change of life.

Today when I returned from buying groceries in Gorham, Stephen met me and said the boys, Sam, Will, Jeremy and Chris all saw a mother bear and her two cubs in the back field. My boys, being new to the area, decided to go out to the field to look at the bear family more closely, too close according to Stephen, because the mother stood up in front of them. They both told me a good tale of their sighting. My question to them? Did you see her face?

Hope everyone has a fun, safe holiday. Independence is something to celebrate.

Mahoosuc Arts Council

The Mahoosuc Arts Council is pleased to announce the return of concerts on the Bethel common this summer.

The Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Memorial Summer Series will feature The Royal River Philharmonic Jazz Band on July 8, at 4:00 PM, as the first of five Sunday afternoon shows. Join the Royal River Philharmonic Jazz Band for the swinging sounds of Dixieland Jazz.

The band has been attracting New England audiences for over 15 years.

It features arrangements of the great tunes from the traditional jazz repertoire with finely crafted ensemble work with plenty of room for solos and collective improvisation with fun to be had by all.

Upcoming concerts will feature our community band, the Mahoosuc Music Makers on July 15, rousing rhythms and roots- Americana by Bait the Hook on July 29, country favorites with Jewel Clark and Donnie Katlin on August 5, and great folk music performed by the trio "Under the Song Tree" featuring Anni Clark, Dan Merrill and Lynn Deeves on August 26. All concerts begin at 4:00 PM and run sixty to ninety minutes in length.

The rain site is Bingham Auditorium on Church Street at Gould Academy.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Sponsored by Mrs. Kneeland's family, the series honors her life of teaching in the Bethel area and her work with children with learning differences.

The series celebrates the teaching profession that she dearly loved and today's teachers who care enough to make a difference in a child's life.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

An exhibit, "All Aboard! 150 Years of Railroad from the Atlantic and St. Lawrence," opened on Sunday, July 1, at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center's Robinson House. Society Curator of Collections and Assistant Director Randall Bennett, who has developed and curated the exhibit with the help of several volunteers made some introductory remarks on the exhibition and the railroad in the region's history. He thanked several volunteers who helped with the exhibit and/or preparing the room for its opening, including Danna and George Nickerson, Dean Walker, Colwyn and Judy Haskell, Robert Parente, and Henry Messier. He also expressed gratitude to Ben Conant, Jean Owen, Richard Taylor, Howard and Virginia Cole, and Charles Hunter and Richard Anderson of the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad for providing display objects and photographs.

The exhibit, consisting of several panels and a number of framed materials, will be open until Dec. 30, 2003. It will also be supplemented by other programming during this time.

A highlight of this exhibition is a separate gallery containing operating model trains (1920s to the present), which will be open on weekends during July and August.

Begun in 1846 and completed between Portland, Maine and Montreal, Quebec, in 1853, the first international railway in North America was the dream of John Alfred Poor, a native of Andover. Besides providing an ice-free port for Montreal, the railroad had a positive effect on the economies of western and southern Maine (especially the city of Portland), and northern New Hampshire and Vermont. This exhibit celebrates the sesquicentennial of this important rail line (which operates today as a freight-only carrier under the name "St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railroad"), as well as the arrival of rail transportation to Bethel and the northern White Mountain region in 1851.

From the

Bethel Library

The 2001 Annual Fund for the Bethel Library has raised a total of more than $15,500 in the campaign, which concluded on June 30. The Bethel Library trustees are very grateful to the individuals and businesses who responded to the appeal.

Recent individual donors are Richard and Lyndell Carter, Cheryl Eliot, and Deborah Weaver in memory of Howard and Deborah Weaver. Oxford Telecom is a recent addition to the list of sponsoring businesses. These donors join more than 230 individuals, families and businesses donating to the library's Annual Fund since the kickoff in October, according to Fund Chair Cathy Newell.

The 2001 Annual Fund supported completion of the handicapped-accessible bathroom, the ongoing conversion to a computerized catalogue system, and provided initial funding toward the renovation of the stacks with adjustable shelving arranged in a user-friendly manner. A complete report on the 2001 Annual Fund is in preparation and will be released shortly.

The 2002 Annual Fund will be officially launched in the fall. However, gifts are welcome at any time and may be sent to the Bethel Library Annual Fund, Box 130, Bethel, ME 04217.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report for 2000 Bethel Water District

PO Box 104, Bethel, ME 04217

We're pleased to present to you our Annual Drinking Water Quality Report. This report, a requirement of the 1996 amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act, is designed to inform you about the quality water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources.

WATER SOURCE

Our water source is the Chapman Brook, which flows towards Bethel from Newry and the mountains to the northwest. We screen the water twice at the Chapman Brook Reservoir on Reservoir Road before treating it with chlorine to protect from possible contaminants and fluoride to promote dental health. It is then gravity fed to our 1075 customers through 430 service connections. Our water has a waiver to filtration. Because we do not filter and we own 2,300 acres surrounding the source, we have developed and implemented a Watershed Control. It is designed to prevent contamination of the Chapman Brook.

Similarly, the Maine Drinking Water Program will be evaluating all public water supplies statewide by the year 2003 as part of the Source Water Assessment Program. The evaluation will consider geology and hydrology, land uses, water testing information, and the extent of land ownership or protection by local ordinance to determine how likely our drinking water source is to be contaminated in the future. When this work is completed by the state it will be included in future versions of this report. For more information, contact the Drinking Water Program at 287-2070.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Lucien Roberge, Superintendent, or Donald Katlin, Assistant Superintendent, at 824-2342. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the third Tuesday of every month at 4 p.m. at the District office, 9 Philbrook St.

WATER QUALITY

The Bethel Water District routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The following table shows any detection resulting from our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2000*. As you can see, our system had no violations. We're proud that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected. The EPA has determined that your water is SAFE at these levels.

In 1999, we applied for and were granted a 3 year waiver for synthetic organics (Phase II/V) testing. This is an exemption from the annual testing and monitoring requirements for pesticides, herbicides, fungicides and other industrial chemicals; the Drinking Water Program grants a waiver only upon a finding that "it will not result in an unreasonable risk to health."

*If no tests were required for a given contaminant in 2000, the law requires that the most recent test results be included here. No test results over 5 years old are allowed, however.

Some or all of the following contaminants were tested for as regulated by law. Other elements are also tested for which do not require reporting, as they do not pose a potential health risk.

* Turbidity is a measure of cloudiness or suspended colloidal matter (silt). Excessive turbidity levels can cause problems with water disinfection. 0.90 was the single highest measure of turbidity for the 2000 calendar year. 100% of the samples taken were below 5 NTU's for slow sand filtration media. Therefore, your finished drinking water is clear and safe to drink.

Optimum range for those systems that fluoride is 1-2 ppm.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) - corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000. Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter (µg/L) - corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $100,000. Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to people.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report for 2000 West Bethel Water System

PO Box 104, Bethel, ME 04217

We're pleased to present to you our Annual Drinking Water Quality Report. This report, a requirement of the 1996 amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act, is designed to inform you about the quality water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water.

WATER SOURCE

Our water comes from two wells located behind the West Bethel Children's Center, off of Flat Rd. These two wells, which require no treatment, serve 125 people through 50 service connections.

The Maine Drinking Water Program will be evaluating all public water supplies statewide by the year 2003 as part of the Source Water Assessment Program. The evaluation will consider geology and hydrology, land uses, water testing information, and the extent of land ownership or protection by local ordinance to determine how likely our drinking water source is to be contaminated in the future. When this work is completed by the state it will be included in future versions of this report. For more information, contact the Drinking Water Program at 287-2070. For now, we have a similar, less-extensive plan, a Wellhead Self-Evaluation Form, on file in our office.

*If no tests were required for a given contaminant in 2000, the law requires that the most recent test results be included here. No test results over 5 years old are allowed, however.
